The year 1955-56 was a year of successful activity. We danced at the dances, cheered at the games, voted for class officers, studied for finals, and worshipped at Vespers. We gained in knowledge, character, and citizenship. This book is a tribute to the many students and teachers who have spent the past year "Within the Walls of Wallace."

.... EXCITING ACTIVITIES WERE ENJOYED

Grace Zury and Scott Polizotto are viewing the long and the short of graduation gowns; the long being Michel Nikolich and the short being Nancy Dudak as they try to find the right sizes.

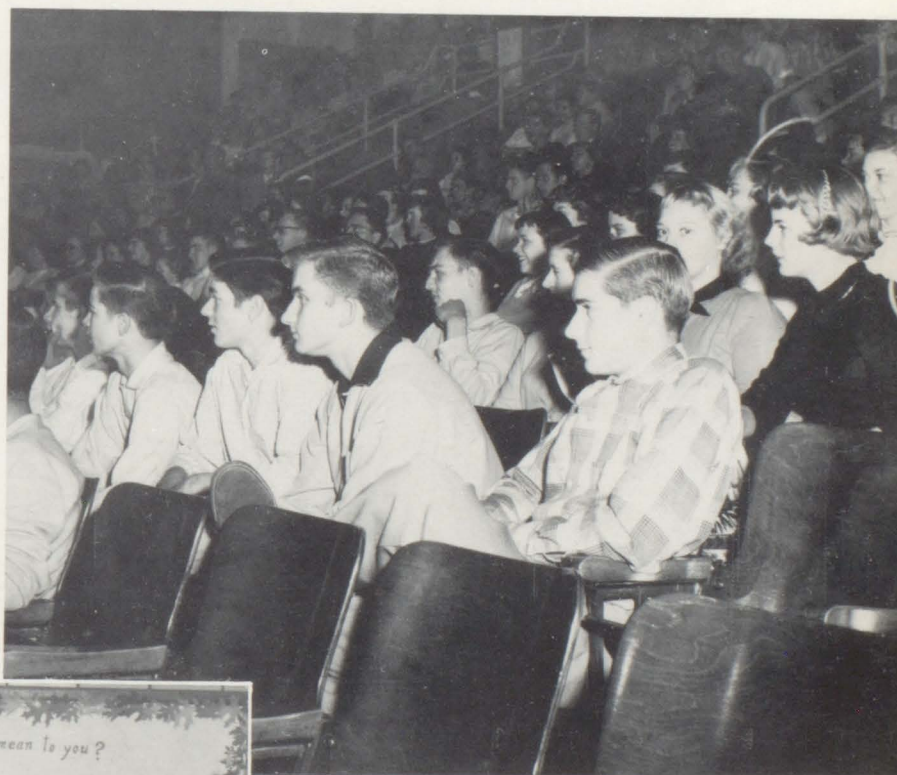

The Girls' Club Birthday Potluck of 1955 was celebrated for the third consecutive year by a large group of enthusiastic party-goers.

BY ALL''

The big race for senior class officers was a very close one. Senior students, including one of the nominees, Keith Barton, anxiously watched election results.

Eager students were waiting for the announcement of the winners of the Sportsmanship and Mary Cheever Awards on Activity Day. On this day students receive special recognition for achievements.

... CROWDS WERE FOUND EVERYWHERE"

A junior English class listens to a report by Adrienne Briski on the life of a famous author.

The journalism class puts into practice the fundamentals for working on the school paper, the Philosopher.

.... THE CLASS

Latin classes combine the ancient with the modern. Judy Ivancevich shows members of the class modern pictures which illustrate Latin mottoes.

ROOM WORK WAS HARD, BUT FUN"

... DIFFERENT VOCATIONS PROVIDED

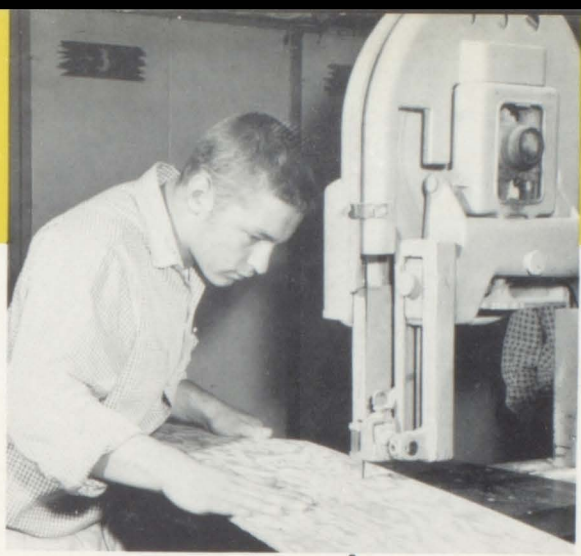

Experience is the best teacher for Pat Pearman. The Teachers' Exploratory Course gives students the opportunity to explore the field of teaching.

Jim Kindler, Ray Michalski, Camille Dufresne, Phyllis Sharrar, and Gerrie Coican prepare for future business careers by mastering the fundamentals of typing.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL"

Discussing their future college plans are Glenda Van Rosendale, Dana Spencer, Darlene Sendre, and Tamara Yermack with a college counselor. College Day is an annual guidance department project.

A daily bugle sounds a tribute to our flag. This pause at the beginning and end of each day is one of our most hallowed traditions. The bugler is Tom Hutchinson.

.... LONG-STANDING

"I solemnly swear". Student Council officers Gerrie Coican, Jerry Philipps, Marilyn Rose, and Ron Ventura pledge themselves to the service of their school.

It is an old, old story but everyone is eager to hear it again. The Vesper Services retell the story of Christmas to the student body and community.

Park your shoes, and join the circle of big and little sisters doing the "hokey-pokey!" The Girls' Club Sock Dance is a part of the traditional Freshman Week.

... ATHLETIC EVENTS PLAYED A

MAJOR ROLE"

The choral groups sang a tribute to the football and basketball teams during the Pep Concert sponsored by the music department and held in conjunction with the annual Turkey Hop.

... MAD AND MELLOW MUSIC PUT US

Amid clouds, angels, and stars, couples at this year's Inaugural Ball, "Seventh Heaven," paused for an intermission to examine their programs after the grand march.

'IN THE MOOD ' "

As Always, Staffers
Andrea 59"

The rendezvous for many students is the monthly stag dance sponsored by the Publications Staff. Dancers at the Turkey Hop tripped the light fantastic to celebrate the approaching holiday.

Although the Homecoming game was canceled, spirits remained high and undampened. (Note the preparations to "hang" an Emerson player after he was stung by a Hornet.)

... FUN WAS

Judy Smith, Leigh Melvin, Larry Odar, and Donna Maly enjoy their favorite indoor sport, spinning, "platters."

A slumber party may well be renamed a keeping-awake party. Shenanigans will continue far into the night, and many secrets will be told by these freshman girls: Karen Pittington, Cecilia Arras, Gloria Guess, Sharon Myers, Anne Stilovich, and Pat Gruenberg.

ALSO PART OF OUR SCHOOL EXPERIENCES''

The favorite hangout of Lew Wallace students is that of the Beauty Spot. After-game crowds enjoy lively conversation about the relative prospects of our teams.

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

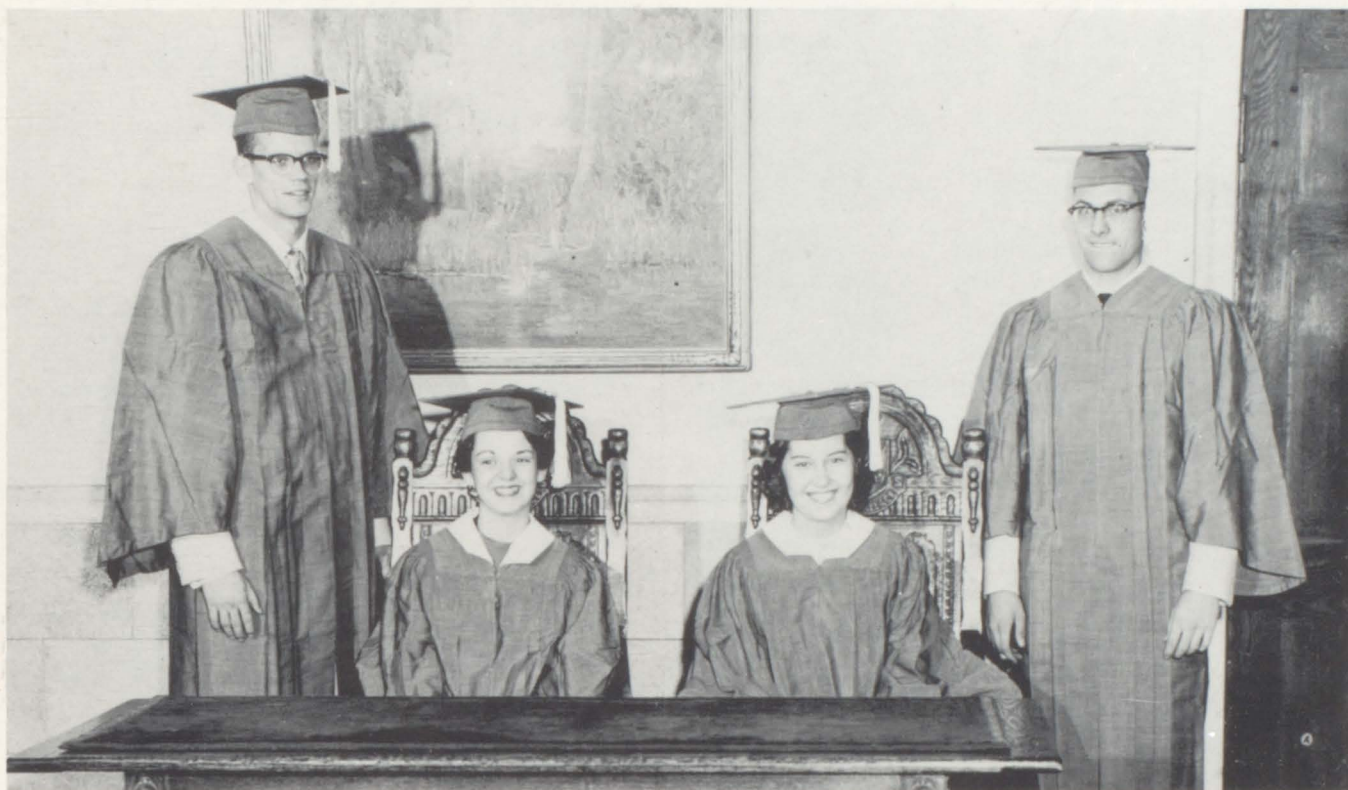

Senior officers were sworn in during Student Council Inauguration services. Ronn Boehlke, president, administers the oath of office to Carol Uskert, secretary; Betty Epler, treasurer; and Keith Barton, vice president.

The Senior Reception honors February grads and gives all seniors a chance to discuss future plans. Gathered around the tea table are Keith Barton, Dorothy Jaclack, Ronn Boehlke, Sonia Martinson, Darlene Spindler, and John Clark.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

We have just completed one of the best years of our life, our senior year. It began with a bang when we elected such capable class officers as Ronn Boehlke, president; Keith Barton, vice president; Carol Uskert, secretary; and Betty Epler, treasurer.

Queen Lynn Longstreet reigned over the third annual homecoming celebration for our class. According to tradition we journeyed to Washington, D.C., but not according to tradition the boys outnumbered the girls on the trip. We may have come home tired, but our new feeling of belonging to the ages regenerated us for the coming school days.

Was it only yesterday that we entered high school as awed freshmen? The thrills, trials, and tribulations of Freshman Week were exciting, and that was one week that will never be forgotten. We had all kinds of fun producing our freshman play, "Best Foot Forward!" Our wise selection of Charles Brown as president, Guy Camarata as vice president, Karen Wortley as secretary, and Bev Edwards as treasurer added much to the year. Our first dance, "Cupid's Capers," was held early in January.

Our sophomore year began with the festive spirit of the "Mardi Gras," our class party, and the thrill of elections. Scott Polizotto served as president with Dick Fox elected vice president. Charlesa Skolds was secretary and Bill Purcell was treasurer that year.

As juniors we were now upper-lower classmen with the privilege of attending the Prom, which was heaven itself. We wrote a new page in the traditions of Lew Wallace that junior year when we elected Scott Polizotto as our class president for the second consecutive term. Our other officers were Mike Fiacable, vice president; Nancy Beiriger, secretary; and Linda Given, treasurer.

Remember as freshmen how we wished for graduation: Now that it is finally upon us we are sorry, and yet we are happy as all our joyful memories come back to us, and wonderful friendships remain. Through the coming years we'll often think of these past four years, and as the theme of our annual comes back to us, we'll remember always our happy days "Within the Walls of Wallace."

"Highlight of the Year"

WHITE JACKETS — Courtesy Topper Apparel, Mrs. E. Knotts

Summer formals, white coats, bids, the Crystal Ballroom, cocktail parties, and early morning breakfasts — these are some of the things that make up that special "night of nights" — the Junior-Senior Prom. Traditionally held on the first Friday in May, the Prom is the only formal dance of the school year.

Enjoying themselves at one of the many cocktail parties preceding the Prom are Sue Smith, Dave Nolan, Jean McCalister, Mac Busby, Norma Burgeson, and Steve Bazin.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Only one more year is left for the Class of 1957. Three wonderful years are behind this year's junior class. It all started their freshman year when they elected Don Hannah as president, Jay Moore as vice president, Jackie Mattingly as secretary, and Carolyn Dawson as treasurer. Then some of their class were cast in the delightful freshman play, "Cheaper by the Dozen." Spring came and the class of '57 ended the year with their own freshman dance, "Spring Fantasy."

Before they knew it a new school year was upon them. They were sophomores! Of course they wanted to make it a most successful year, so they elected Howard Fisher as president and Irma Smoot vice president. Don Hannah was the secretary with Judy Smith as the treasurer. Since the class is filled with boys and girls who love to jitterbug, they called their sophomore dance "Boogie Bounce."

The fall of 1955 found this lively class with an eye on the future. The nominating committee met and made sure that the most capable students were nominated to run for class offices. When all votes were counted, Richard Bianco was president, along with Rochelle Robbins as vice president, Janet Myers as secretary and Carolyn Dawson as treasurer.

This year as juniors a solemn responsibility was placed on their shoulders . . . that of planning the Prom. The thrill of accomplishment was theirs as dancing to the strains of Reynold Young and his Orchestra, they realized the Prom was a big success.

All the necessary ingredients for the magic recipe of success have been strongly blended into this year's junior class. Their past school history of interest in activities will shine when their final history at Lew Wallace High School is finished.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

"Two down, two to go!" This is the challenge that faces the sophomore class as they cross the half way mark in high school. Ivanhoe, algebra, biology, Silas Marner, autobiographies and geometry are a few of the stumbling blocks that these courageous sophomores have faced.

As freshmen they proved how much like the wise old owl they were by electing such capable class officers as Jerrold Brown for president with Bill Melvin as vice president. Byron Broome was the elected secretary and Jim Emmett, treasurer. How can they ever forget the joys of that freshman year? The "Fresh Jam" helped start that year just right, and their freshman play, "Belles on Their Toes," added just the perfect touch.

This year as sophomores they have certainly kept the Lew Wallace student body buzzing. When they elected Dick Clark and Larry Barlock as co-presidents by 144 votes each, everyone was astounded by their good judgement and originality. Leanne Phillips was vice president, Dora Hansen was secretary, and Steve Kukoy was treasurer. With the school year flowing along smoothly, the sophomore dance, "Rhythm 'n Blues", blended perfectly with their class theme.

Next year they will be the junior class of Lew Wallace with such ordeals as Giants in the Earth and term topics awaiting them. The much looked forward to Prom will be their biggest job. We're sure this sophomore class will go on making history at Lew Wallace, and we'll all be waiting and watching.

WALLACE FROM FORTY-FIFTH AVENUE

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

A year ago the class of '59 entered Lew Wallace High School as green freshmen, but as we all can plainly see, they no longer look and act as Freshies. The thrilling new experiences throughout this freshman year have shaped them slowly into the next sophomore class of Lew Wallace High. The first big hurdle was the never to be equalled Freshman Week. Among many things, the girls were found by their "big sisters" and entertained graciously at the Girls' Club Sock Dance.

Another step along the way was their first class meeting presided over by their class officers. Bruce Polizotto was president and Martha Melvin was vice president with Ed Stark as secretary and Malcolm Stinson as treasurer.

This year the right to attend the high school dances was extended to them. Also they were able to hold a dance of their very own. It was entitled "Winter Wonderland," and the weather outside was as beautiful as the inside decorations.

The high point of the whole year for the class of '59 was the curtain opening on the freshman play, "June Mad." Those two unforgettable characters, Penny played by Rosemary Lashenik and Carolyn McHargue, and Chuck Rhodes and Philip Paris as Chuck, will always be remembered by those who saw this delightful comedy.

Yes, the freshmen have just passed a big milestone in their lives. Let us hope that they all keep up their good work.

"Peanuts for Polio"

Beverly Edwards does her part selling peanuts to a pedestrian in Glen Park.

John Mayer, a Wallace student and polio victim, presents the trophy for the winning team to Jim Muldoon, chairman and Grace Zury and Ron Sendre, co-chairmen. Looking on is Scott Polizotto who served as citywide chairman for the drive.

Such was the cry of the 250 Wallace students who, on Saturday, January 21, 1956, donated their time to raise funds for the Teen-age Polio Drive. These ambitious teens invaded Glen Park and part of downtown Gary to sell peanuts to everyone in sight. People on streets, in stores, offices, and motor vehicles were asked to contribute in order to receive the colorfully wrapped bags of peanuts.

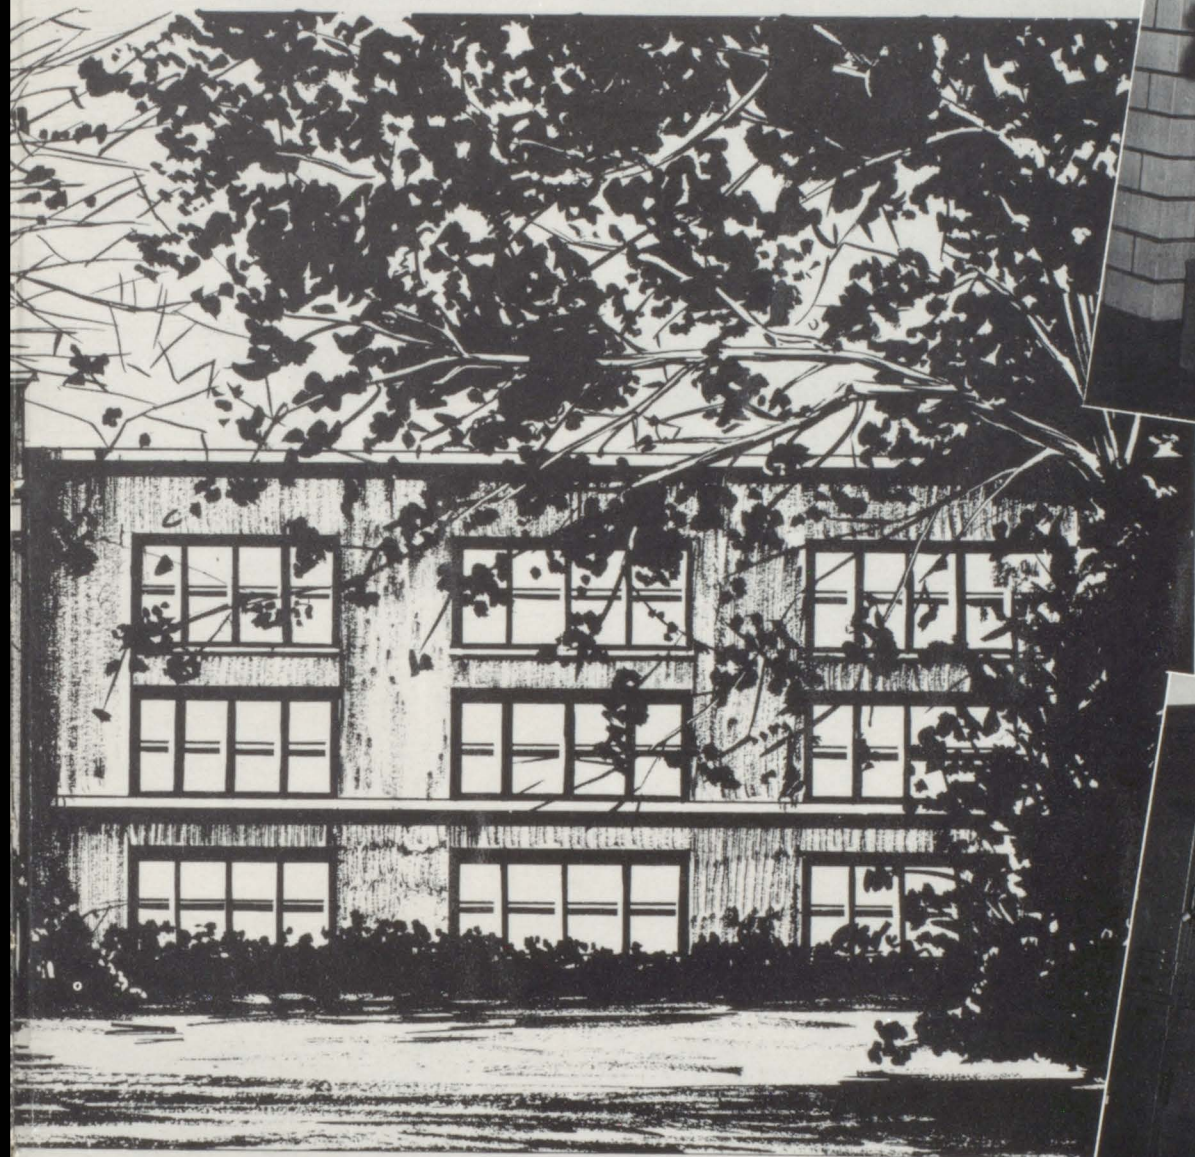

The one day drive, along with a stag dance and donations from Glen Park merchants, collected a total of $2,363.69 — the most money collected by any district in the entire state of Indiana. In recognition of these efforts, a trophy was presented to the Glen Park district.

Citywide chairman for the drive was Scott Polizotto, with John Mayer as honorary chairman. Jim Muldoon proved an able campaign leader for the Glen Park district. Grace Zury and Ron Sendre assisted him as co-chairmen.

As part of the fund-raising campaign, a stag dance was held at the 43rd Avenue Presbyterian Church, where a record crowd of over 400 people danced, ate peanuts, and drank pop. Everyone did a job of which we can be justly proud.

ACTIVITIES

"Within the Walls of Wallace . . .

Carol Golbesky, George Lasky, and Jim Muldoon cast their ballots for Homecoming Queen while Mike Pavloff, and Roberta Willfond decide which of the pretty contestants should receive their votes.

Many couples enjoyed the first semi-formal dance of the social season, the Inaugural Ball. The grand march was crowded and festive.

The Senior vs. Teacher volleyball game is one of the activities sponsored by the Student Council to raise money for the S.O.S. Humanity Drive. Getting in a little pre-game practice are John Largura, Marge Nedanovich, Ron Sendre, Coach Joe Black, and Coach Richard Polk.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council may be referred to as the "Business Manager" of Lew Wallace. Under the guidance of Mr. William Vorwald, the council ably supervises all school events and school organizations.

The Homecoming celebration, organized by the Student Council, was well attended by the student body. The council successfully supervised the traditional Inaugural Ball, the S.O.S. Humanity Drive, and the inauguration of class officers. All these events were climaxed by Activity Day, a Student Council project which honors students who have offered valuable scholastic and social service to the school.

The Student Council holds weekly Wednesday meetings within the walls of room 100M. The council is composed of officers, chosen by the student body, and home-room representatives. All students have a chance to present their ideas and suggestions for the improvement of the school.

Officers for this year were Ronald Ventura, president; Jerry Philipps, vice president; Gerrie Coican, secretary; and Marilyn Rose, treasurer.

GIRLS' CLUB

Accepted as the "First Lady" of Lew Wallace, Girls' Club reigns over Freshman Week, faculty teas, the Senior Reception, and the Spring Turnabout. Other Girls' Club events are the Ma, Pa, and Me Banquet, the Sing, the Birthday Potluck, and the Suburban Girls' Club Conference.

These projects promote school spirit, encourage participation in school activities, and develop lasting friendships.

Weekly meetings of the Girls' Club Council are held within the walls of room 107M. Officers and homeroom representatives make plans for future projects at these meetings.

Each Thursday members of the faculty are invited by Girls' Club to attend a tea in the Junior Library. Miss Virginia Stoner, Miss Shirley Bryan, Miss Violet Street, Miss Ann Norehad, and Miss Lorraine Shaffer enjoy tea poured by Amanda Manoni.

Don Wagner and Miriam Melvin arrive at the Girls' Club Turnabout, which was held in late May.

F.T.A.

Members of the Future Teachers of America hope someday to reverse the situation they are now in as students. Their membership in F.T.A. helps in preparing them for the teaching profession.

F.T.A. members learn about the opportunities in teaching from the many speakers at the meetings and they cultivate the qualities essential in a good teacher by taking part in the teacher's exploratory course and the observation week program, both sponsored by F.T.A.

Standing in the front row are Sharon Myers, freshman vice president; Dorothy Jaclack, treasurer; Linda Kasper, president; Pat Pearman, corresponding secretary; Marge Zury, recording secretary. In the second row are Brenda Arnold, junior vice president; Peggy Mahorney, sophomore vice president; Barbara Smith, historian; Grace Zury, senior vice president.

The F.T.A. Christmas cookie sale proved a lot of work and fun. Enjoying themselves wrapping and sampling cookies are Judy Bulza, Dorothy Kokinda, B. Ellen Mathews, and Anne Stilinovich.

These girls are the "Clara Bartons" of tomorrow. Planning for the day when they will get their caps, they hold membership in the White Caps.

It is the goal of White Caps to inform those interested in a medical career of the opportunities in nursing.

One of the noteworthy services the girls perform is the preparation of scrapbooks for bedridden children and adults in local hospitals.

Social events of the White Caps include a May tea and a formal initiation of new members.

Officers for this year were Carol Uskert, president; Dorothy Erickson, vice president; Carolyn Dawson, secretary; and Nancy Beiriger, treasurer.

Mrs. Lois Bjelland, Miss Shirley Crumbaugh, and Mrs. Fern Kirtland sponsor the club.

White collar girls and business executives — that's what the members of the Future Business Leaders of America hope to become one day.

The worthwhile goals of F.B.L.A. are to develop competent, aggressive business leadership and to create more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations.

The F.B.L.A. provided service for Mr. Asher's office, Miss Street's office, the Red Cross, and the T.B. Association. The club also participated in Career Day, sponsored by the Professional and Business Woman's Club of Gary.

Officers for this year were Nancy Dudak, president; Annette Davis, vice president; Shirley Luzzi, secretary; and Jackie Mattingly, treasurer.

Mrs. Helen Grecco and Mr. Robert Yates sponsor the club.

SPRENCCH CLUB

"¿Cómo está Ud.?" — "Tres bien, merci."

This is "Sprencch" language spoken fluently by the members of the Sprencch Club.

The Sprencch Club is a social club that meets once a month with the sponsor, Miss Eloise Brooner. Miss Brooner has spent many of her vacations in France, Spain, and Mexico and she often shares her varied experiences in those foreign lands with club members.

In addition to promoting interest in the romance languages, the club enjoys a variety of parties throughout the year.

Officers for this year were Bill Schoon, president; Jay Moore, vice president; Bill Melvin, secretary; and Mary Jane Murray, treasurer.

OLYMPIANS

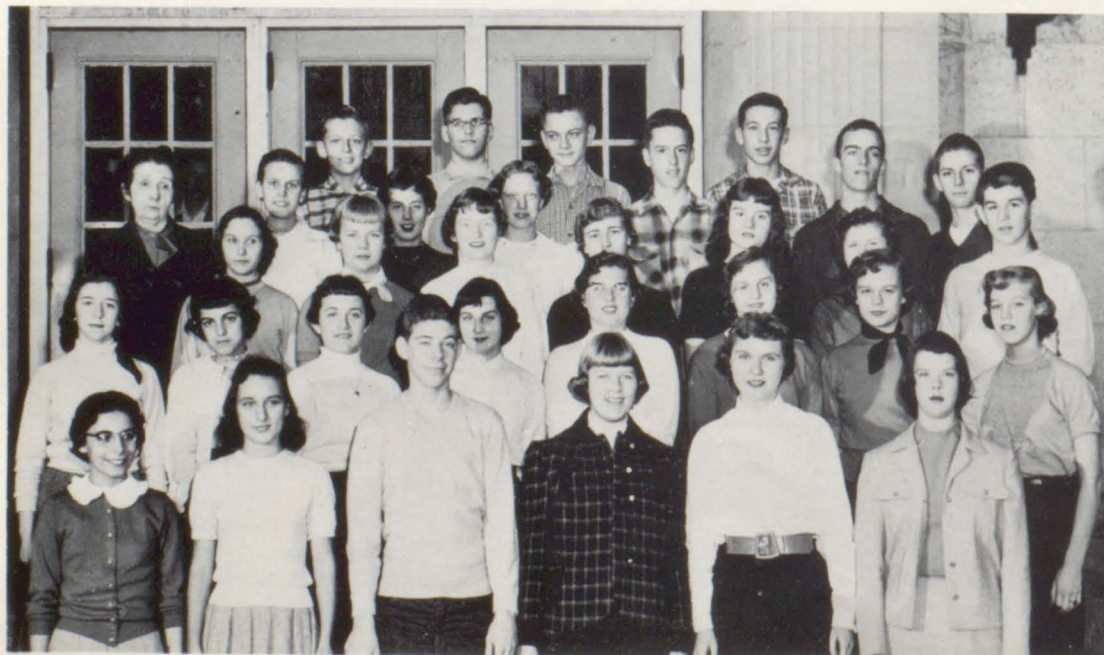

"When in Rome, do as the Romans do." Although Olympian members have never been in Rome, they try to follow this rule of conduct in all their club activities.

At their Christmas party, called the Saturnalia, they exchanged gifts representing Roman gods and goddesses. As a part of their initiation into the club, new members are put through some of the hardships Romans suffered in the old days.

The main activity of Olympians is the spring Latin Conference held at a different area school every year.

Officers for this year were Joan Plum, council supremus; Gerrie Hawrys, council secundus; Judy Ivancevich, scriba; Janet Myers, quaestor; and Donna Farber and Maurice Massa, aediles.

Miss Agnes McLean sponsors the club.

Row 1. D. Farber, J. Ivancevich, L. Goldberg, J. Myers, G. Hawrys, J. Plum.

KLUB KEM

From within the walls of the chemistry room, chemical odors issue forth into the Wallace halls.

The Klub Kemists are manufacturers on a small scale basis. At the meetings, they make several useful things such as cleansing cream. They also study many chemical reactions to increase their knowledge of chemistry.

During the year, the Klub Kemists accompany their sponsor, Mrs. Helen Mackenzie, on several field trips. They also have an annual Christmas party and a spring picnic.

BIOLOGY CLUB

Membership in the Biology Club is bound to keep one "as busy as a bee." The club promotes the Audubon Society and helps needy families at Christmas time. It sponsors firefighters to save the woods lot and it also sends delegates to the meetings of the Indiana Junior Academy of Science.

Through its many activities the Biology Club maintains its purpose, to formulate higher ideals among scientifically minded students.

Officers for this year were Martha Aire, president; Joan Plum, vice president; and Gail Craig, secretary-treasurer, with Ed Luksus assisting her.

Miss Lola Lemon sponsors the club.

AUXILIA

The advantages of having an attractive senior library are known to every high school student in Wallace. Auxilia is responsible for the upkeep of the library and the study hall bulletin board.

Members of Auxilia devote much of their time to aiding students and teachers in the library and also to raising money for the improvement of the library.

Auxilia social events include a May tea for members and their parents. Auxilia also participates in Book Week activities.

Officers for this year were Yvonne Dailey, president; Sandra Pawlicki, secretary; B. Ellen Mathews, treasurer; Martha Aire, social chairman; and Dorothy Jaclack, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Mary Oppman sponsors the club.

Row 1. J. Andrews, B. Mathews, Y. Dailey, M. Aire, R. Scelsi.

INKPOT

Inkpot members dip their pens in the old inkpot many times during the year to write the original short stories and poems that are read or recited at the monthly meetings. This is done in keeping with the purposes of the Inkpot club, to bring to light the latent writing abilities of members and to further interest in literature.

The club has an annual Christmas party and a traditional spring banquet in honor of graduating members of the club.

Officers for this year were Mary Jane Bailey, president; Sue Smith, vice president; Lynn Longstreet, secretary; and Nancy Beiriger, treasurer.

Miss Leora Connors sponsors the club.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

Row 1. J. Jakob, D. Farber, V. Charlson, C. Hodurski, M. Gannon, C. Golbesky, C. Wagner, C. Cook, T. Pappas.

Row 2. B. Holt, J. Schnabel, S. Stech, P. Hodurski, J. Olson, G. Van Rosendale, J. Haddberg, S. Watts, M. Teeter, K. Clemens, T. German, B. Burton.

These young students have the essential qualities to become good citizens of tomorrow. They are scholars and leaders with good character traits and they have served both their school and community.

In recognition of the above qualities they have been elected to the Junior Honor Society. The purpose of the society is to honor students excelling in scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Annually the society holds an induction service to install new members. Their service activity is to help new students become acquainted with Lew Wallace.

Officers for this year were Carol Golbesky, president; Merribelle Gannon, vice president; Bruce Polizotto, secretary; and Sandra Watts, treasurer.

Mrs. Margaret Connerley, Mr. Everett Hartsough, Mrs. Florence Heffron, Miss Angela Hannagan, and Miss Olive Waggoner sponsor the society.

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

These students have attained one of the highest honors that Lew Wallace offers, membership in the Senior Honor Society. This national organization honors students who excel in scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Every spring students in the eleventh and twelfth grade are inducted into the honor society at an impressive candle-light ceremony. Students are elected to the society by the Lew Wallace faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Officers for this year were Linda Given, president; Donald Knoop, secretary; and Sue Smith, treasurer.

Mr. Bernard Shirk sponsors the group.

MAJORETTES

Defying gravity, the majorettes twirl and toss their batons high in the air as they perform at parades and football games. Keeping in step with the rhythm of the music, they play an important part in the attractiveness of the band.

MELODY MEN

The Melody Men constitute a vocal choir with tenor, baritone, and bass voices. Those who sing in the group are high school boys who enjoy singing and who want to learn the fundamentals of good group singing.

This year, under the direction of Miss Lorain Shaffer, the Melody Men sang in the Christmas Vespers, the Christmas Pageant, the Pep Concert, the Spring Concert, and the city-wide festival. The group also had outside engagements as entertainers for local groups.

Officers for this year were James Sparks, president, and Richard Stazinski, secretary.

Standing: J. Schnabel, E. Smosna,
K. Tolliver, E. Bartman, R. Stanik,
L. Biro, R. Stazinski, G. Wardell,

burg, D. Lloyd.
Seated: Miss Lorain Shaffer.

A CAPPELLA

The harmonious renditions sung by the A Cappella Choir are the end results of long hours of practice. Few realize how long the choir rehearses because the choir room is located in a very secluded spot — the only room on the "fourth floor."

The purpose of the choir is to provide an opportunity for high school students to participate in a choral organization.

This year the choir performed at the Pep Concert, the Orchestra Concert, the Spring Concert, the Christmas Vespers, and the All-City Music Festival. The choir also performed at the Baccalaureate service.

Officers for this year were Norma Burgeson, president, and Phyllis Holt, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Virginia Mead directs the choir.

"You don't have to sing to enjoy music, but you do have to enjoy it to sing it," is the motto of the Lew Wallace Glee Club members.

These music lovers know their "do, re, mi's" backwards, forwards, and maybe even sideways. They can be depended on to present a polished performance.

This year the Glee Club performed at the Pep Concert, the Spring Concert, the Christmas Vesper service, and the Commencement service. The choir also sang at the All-City Music Festival and in the Northwestern Indiana Festival Chorus.

Officers for this year were Paula Jo Robinson, president, and Pat Daniel, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Virginia Mead directs the choir.

GLEE CLUB

"Speak the speech, I pray you, . . . trippingly on the tongue."

Mrs. Mary Frances Busby, teacher of the class, offers this little bit of Shakespearean advice to Forensics members as they prepare to enter speech contests or discuss political issues.

The purpose of the class is to learn and practice techniques in discussion and public speaking.

This year the activities of the class included the sponsorship of the annual Calumet Student Congress and the sponsorship of the Lew Wallace Round Table, a series of discussions broadcasted over the Wallace radio station. Members of the class also attended the Purdue Legislative Assembly.

Officers for this year were Ken Todd, president, and Ann Flynn, secretary.

The social activities of the Council include an initiation following a formal induction, an annual banquet, a potluck supper, and the giving of a gift to a needy family at Easter time.

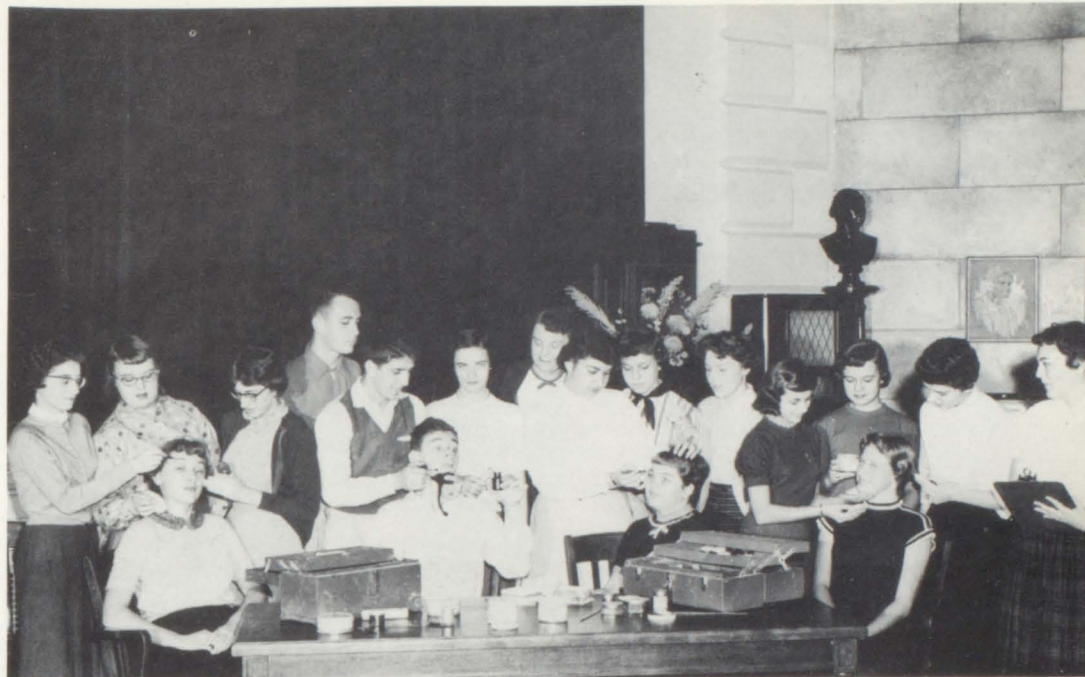

Officers for this year were Nancy Dudak, president; John Dimos, vice president; Jayne Lake, secretary; Brenda Arnold, treasurer; and Ron Ventura, head usher.

Mrs. Mattie Hannsz sponsors the Council.

SENIOR DRAMA

Late hours, dinners consisting of cold hamburgers and warm cokes, memorizing lines, unfinished homework — all these things play a part in the life of a Senior Drama student during play rehearsals.

A little social activity is sprinkled into the life of the drama student. There are cast parties, initiation parties, and beach parties. The class goes into Chicago several times a year to see the latest Broadway plays.

Officers for this year were Barbara Smith, president; Elaine Terzes, vice president; Grace Zury, secretary; Ron Ventura, stage manager; Brenda Arnold, business manager; and Helene Zury, press agent.

Miss Beatrice Sandles directs the class.

PUBLICATIONS STAFF

These are some of the hardest working students in Lew Wallace. They devote much of their time to work in the journalism room.

Their journalistic life centers around two major publications, the Philosopher and the Quill and Blade. The journalism students not only produce these, but they sell subscriptions to them as well.

Another publication that the journalism class put out was the student directory. Some in the class handle the calling cards and invitations for graduating seniors.

The purposes of the journalism class are to offer an opportunity to students who want experience and to offer services to the school.

Mrs. Kathryn Welsh sponsors the staff.

STAGE CREW

"Dim the lights!"
 "Put on the baby spots!"
 "Curtains!"
 "Where are the new gelatins?"
 "Pull down the asbestos when Act I ends!"

Those are the most common expressions found in the stage crew vernacular. The orders are usually emphatically whispered among members of the crew during a Lew Wallace production.

The auditorium is the stage hand's "second home" because he's there so often. The typical duties of a stage hand include operating the switchboard, operating the curtains, putting up flats, and repairing equipment.

Mrs. Mattie Hannsz supervises the stage crew.

PATROL SQUAD

In this area of heavy traffic the job of maintaining safety is not an easy one. The keen sight of the patrol boys and their ability to spot danger saves parents and teachers from worrying over the safety of Lew Wallace children.

Rain or shine the volunteer squad patrols school crossings each morning as students come to school, at noon, and after school as students go home.

Mr. Everett Hartsough sponsors the squad.

R.O.T.C.

"Hep 2-3-4, Hep 2-3-4, Compa-ny Halt!" These words ring a familiar bell to the boys in R. O. T. C.

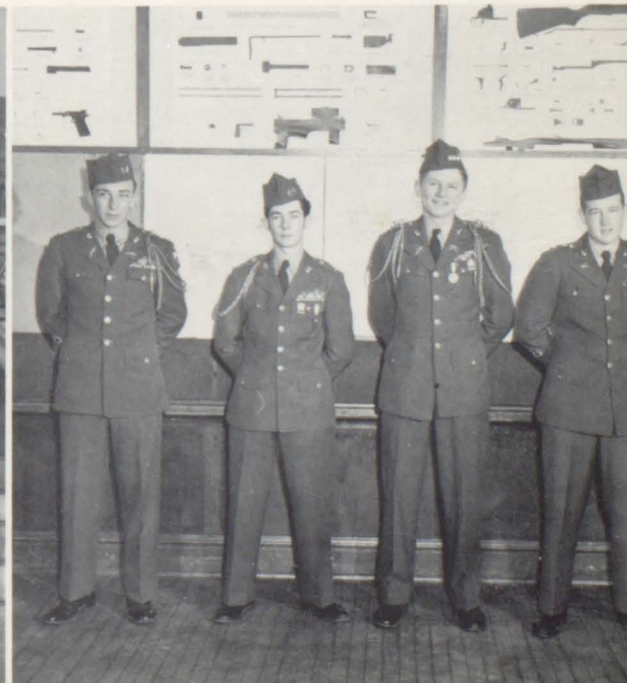

Under the supervision of Sgt. Freeman, the boys prepare for a future career in the army. They are instructed in drill, marksmanship, mapreading, first aid, and care and cleaning of weapons. Daily, the flag squad raises and lowers the flag in front of the school. All this goes into the making of one of the outstanding R. O. T. C. units in Gary.

AUDIO-VISUAL STAFF

Sound projectors, movie screens, films, and film strips — the boys in the audio-visual department learn to know them like a book. Mr. Mitchell Gerbick, supervisor of the group, trains the boys in the proper operation of the audio-visual equipment.

The purpose of this active department is to provide auxiliary instructional material used in the classrooms.

PHOTOGRAPHY

"Yes, that's just about right. Now turn your head a little more this way. Now smile. Okay, that's fine."

These are the words repeated many times during the year by the members of the photography staff. The staff renders appreciated service to the journalism department — the taking and developing of all activity and club pictures used in the Philosopher and in the Quill and Blade.

RADIO W.G.V.E.

"No Admittance! Authorized persons only, as prescribed by the Federal Communications Commission."

This is the sign you may notice on the door of the radio booth in the Lew Wallace station.

W.G.V.E. functions as a regular broadcasting station — broadcasting each school day from 10:15 to 11:00 A.M. and from 1:00 to 3:30 P.M.

Programs used are prepared by the Radio Departments of Purdue and Indiana Universities. W.G.V.E. also carries tape programs circulated by the National Association of Educational Broadcasting.

The staff of W.G.V.E. are encouraged to study for and take the F.C.C. third class examination to receive the third class permit for station operators.

Ron Boehlke serves the station as the chief announcer and assistant program director.

Mr. Mitchell Gerbick is the program director and the station manager of W.G.V.E.

Managing Editor, Sandra Dunnam; Page Editors, Charlesa Skolds, Dorothy Verplank, and Grace Zury; and Adviser, Mrs. Kathryn Welsh.

PHILOSOPHER STAFF

214M, a place of hustle, bustle, and noise; a place with a constant hum — 214M, the journalism room.

The journalism room is a "beehive" of perpetual activity. Amateur journalists swarm around in the room, busy as bees.

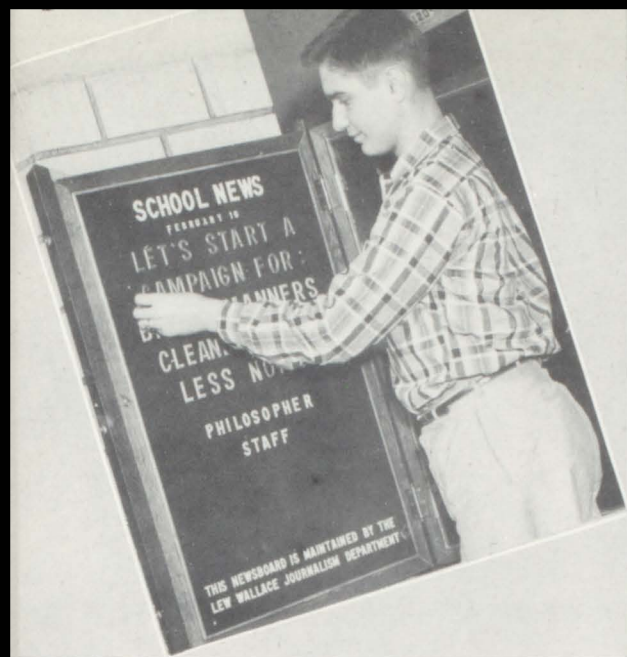

There's so much to do — articles to write, copy to check, material to type, and assignments to be made. Everyone in the class has a special job which varies with the issues. Editors, reporters, feature writers, editorial writers, and room decorators are the occupations in the journalism class.

The three page editors and the managing editor do their level best to induce the reporters to be accurate and punctual with articles. Once articles are turned in, the editors work themselves frantic, — it's only a hop, skip, and a jump to the time when the paper must go to the printer.

One fine day the paper comes back from the printer. Everyone, including the adviser, makes a "beeline" for the big brown package of Philosophers. Their reward is seeing the results of all their hard work in actual print.

QUILL AND BLADE STAFF

As you scan these pages, may you be pleasantly transported from the present back through time, back "Within the Walls of Wallace." This was the uppermost thought in the minds of the annual staff as they slaved to complete the annual.

The club picture editor, Linda Van Cleave, often ran down the hall with her assistant, Miriam Melvin, trying to round up club members and show them "How to Smile."

Forrest Boatright, the Quill and Blade photographer, was "The Most Patient Man of the Year" and Darlene Spindler, the faculty editor, was the tactful one on the staff. They had to be.

The class editors, Sonia Martinson, Caroline Olszewski, Phyllis Komisarick, Mary Gariup, and Lynne Kellaway, had a strange obsession. When all the student pictures for the annual were lost, destroyed, or burned, they had to go around, grab students, put dozens of pictures before their eyes, and say, "Do you know who they are?"

The club copy editor, Helen Zury, chased after club sponsors as she tried to get a new insight on clubs.

The student life copy editor, Carole Shearer, whispered to herself, "Now what does this picture suggest to me?"

The editor-in-chief, Gretchen Gruenberg, was kept busy from dawn to dark. Many times she "fanned" away curious students who wanted to see the annual pictures. Her catchy phrase was, "Now I'm REALLY mad!"

All this "Within the Walls of Wallace" and 214M.

Tying with Roosevelt for the city championship, placing third in the W-NIHSC Conference, and having eight senior members named to the various all-star teams made a successful season for the 1955 Lew Wallace football team.

The Hornets, who scored a total of 114 points to their opponents' 74 points, finished the season with a record of five wins, two losses, and one tie.

Among the 23 senior lettermen, one third of the boys received honors. Boys named to the all-star teams were: Bill Purcell, end; Porter Evans and Jerry Philipps, tackles; Jim Gulliford and Joe Sever, guards; Scott Polizotto, quarterback; Anthony Caravana, halfback; and George Rajkovich, fullback.

High-scoring honors went to George Rajkovich who racked up 37 points. Next was Scott Polizotto with 24 points. Next in line were Anthony Caravana, 18 points, Frank Vitalone, 12 points, Dick Fox, 10 points, and Joe Gibart and Bill Purcell, 6 points each.

RESERVE FOOTBALL

The reserve team ended a successful season with three victories, one defeat, and one tie. Most outstanding about this year's team was its defense, which allowed the opponents only 14 points in five games. Coaches Don Polly and Joseph Black will be counting heavily on these boys next year.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The freshman team did not do as well as they would have liked, winning two games and losing five, with the help of Coach Vern Charlson. The experience gained, however, will prove invaluable to them and will surely provide stronger teams in the future.

QUEEN LYNN LONGSTREET

HOMECOMING

"Yes, the rains came down, they came down from the sky" for the second consecutive year. But the Wallace Homecoming spirit could not be diluted by the downpour. The excitement began with nominations for Queen by the homerooms and the football team. The pretty quintet included Bev Edwards, Arlene Land, Lynn Longstreet, Charlesa Skolds, and Sue Smith.

Excitement mounted to a high pitch Wednesday night when the football players and Homecoming Queen candidates were introduced at a rousing pep rally. The excitement reached its peak on Friday at the couple dance as Letitia Perrotta, the 1954 Queen, crowned a radiantly happy Lynn Longstreet.

When the game was finally played, Emerson won, 13-0.

GOLF

There is no greater thrill in sports than hitting a booming drive or sinking a long putt. Golf has been a varsity sport at Lew Wallace since 1949, and under the direction of Coach Don Polly our teams have always shown up well on the fairways.

SWIMMING

A combination of experienced veterans and untried youngsters who were still a little "wet" behind the ears, proved very tough during the '55-'56 swimming season. Dave Harkness, Chuck Lindsay, Gary Wilson, and John Wagner teamed up in the free-style relay to finish second in the Conference meet and third in the State meet. The loss of these and other seasoned swimmers will undoubtedly hurt, but Coach Don Polly can count on his younger boys, who gained valuable experience.

TRACK

The cindermen started training as early as February and it paid off when spring rolled around. Under the watchful eye of Coach Richard Polk they competed in such big events as the Goshen Relays and sectional meets, as well as their regular dual meet series.

CROSS COUNTRY

The harriers this year were up to their usual high standards. In the city standings they placed second following Horace Mann's first. Winning a majority of their dual meets and placing high in sectional competition they displayed sportsmanship and courage.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Lew Wallace Hornets showed outstanding playing ability this season, and they were respected by all as a good team. They pitted their know-how and ability against several highly rated teams.

Led by seniors Keith Barton and Porter Evans, the Hornets won over such teams as Gertsmeier, East Chicago Roosevelt, and Merrillville. They played an outstanding brand of ball against such teams as Hammond High, Roosevelt, and Michigan City. After dropping some tough games, the Hornets compiled an 8-12 record.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

Under the mentorship of Coach Joseph Black, the reserve basketball team won 8 and lost 11. The team, comprised almost entirely of sophomores, was a little short on experience but long on ability and spirit.

Row 1. P. Romanyak, B. Bielfeld, S. Piet, T. Nikolic, B. Polizotto.
Row 2. Coach Richard Polk, R. Ziese, F. Schenher, A. Pedersen, J. Lahart, J. Wright.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Lew Wallace freshman teams, A and B, under the direction of Coach Richard Polk showed a lot of spirit in winning 20 of 30 games. Their future Wallace outlook is bright.

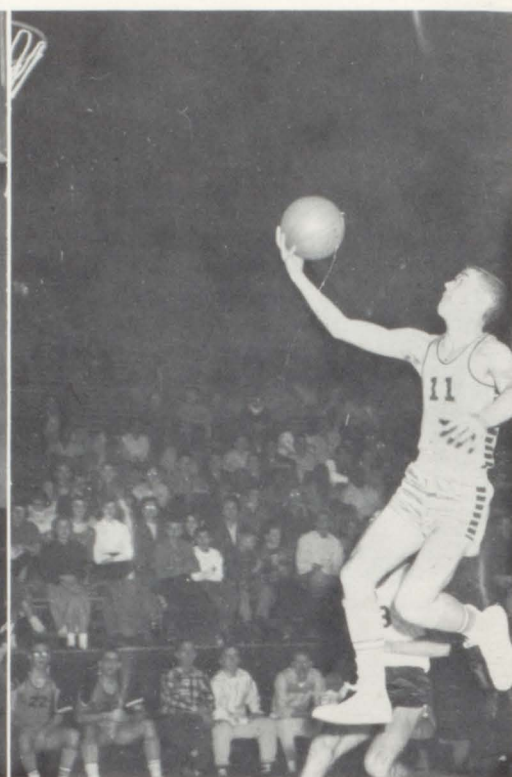

.... WALLACE HORNETS

Big Porter Evans hooks up a shot against Gertsmeier, as we defeated them 64-57. Porter pushed in 251 points during the season to complete Wallace's one-two scoring punch.

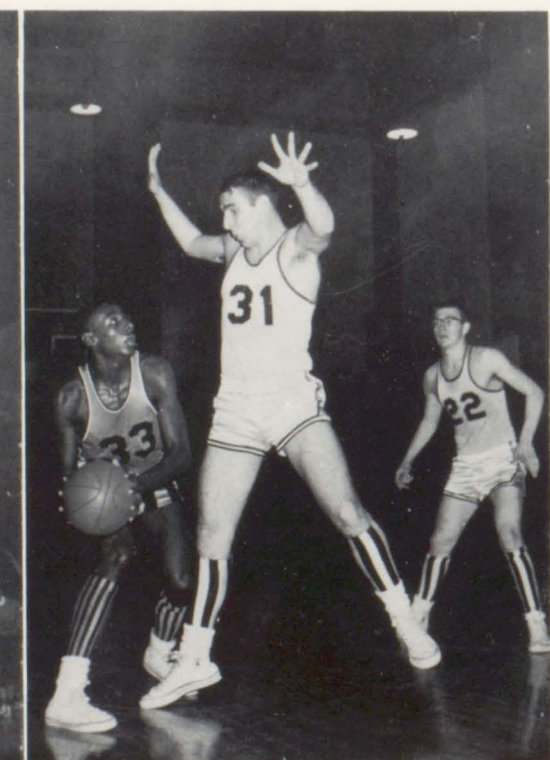

Jumping Bill Purcell grabs for a rebound against Roosevelt. Bill proved a very strong man in the tight spots.

Speedy Dick Fox breaks down the floor and puts one up. Dick's speed and shooting eye proved valuable on many occasions.

Toby Black lays up a shot on a fast break. Toby helped the Hornets defeat East Chicago Roosevelt, 68-60.

Jerry Horwith spreads out on defense to stop any idea of a drive-in. Jerry was a valuable asset to the Hornet team this year.

IN ACTION

Keith Barton, Wallace's scoring ace, outjumps an Indianapolis Attucks player. Keith, who put in 293 points this year was a big man for the Hornets.

Bill Geleott puts up a jump shot against Horace Mann. Guzz was a real spark plug this year.

Sophomore sensation, Dick Clark, goes high in the air for a rebound against an opponent. Dick's shooting and rebounding ability will be depended on heavily the next two years.

Byron Broome drives in against Roosevelt. Byron is another of Coach Charlson's promising sophomores, whose good showing this year will come in handy for the Hornets.

Bill Melvin, a sophomore, fights for the ball with an Attucks Tiger. Bill also played as a reserve and gained valuable experience.

BASEBALL

Our national pastime has gained a firm position in the Wallace sports world. The baseball team, playing a rough schedule, showed up well this year. Our boys hustled all the way.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

They say that there's a woman behind every great man and Wallace athletes are no exceptions.

The cheerleaders, along with the vigorous voices of faithful fans, encourage a fighting spirit and good sportsmanship in our athletes.

The girls, under the training of Miss Angela Hannagan, lead cheers that bring out the best in Wallace teams as they defend the black and gold.

The weaker sex gets stronger every day; that is, if they are members of the G.A.A.

The Girls' Athletic Association has long been noted for promoting sports for girls. Swimming, basketball, baseball, and volleyball are among the many sports for members.

Holding true to its purpose of encouraging good sportsmanship and social contacts, the G.A.A. holds a Sportsday Program with Wirt and Horace Mann. Other G.A.A. events are an initiation, the Christmas potluck, a G.A.A. banquet, the January Turnabout, and a beach party.

Miss Mary Sharp sponsors the organization.

The song, "Memories Are Made of This," will always recall pleasant memories for these dancers at the G.A.A. Turnabout. The couples spent the evening under a lovely false ceiling of pale green and lavender decorations.

Pat Coady prepares to receive a ball hit by Darlene Sendre as Margaret Rondinelli, Joyce Zaviski, Mary Schnitzler, and Marilyn Klich await their chance to play.

All clowns are not girls, but all girls are clowns when it's time for G.A.A. initiation. "Clowning around" are initiates Betty Dalrymple, Nancy DeVilliers, Benay Goad, Gerrie Adams, Bonnie Armes, Frances Wukich, and Pat Dudek.
